

Son of Local Lodge 743 member William Kosakowski wins a 2011 IAM Scholarship

The 2011 IAM Scholarship winners have been announced. Out of the 402 applications submitted for this years' competition, the Outside Committee of Educators chose 17 recipients. Thirteen (13) College and two (2) Vocational School Scholarships were awarded to children of IAM members. The final two (2) Scholarships went to IAM members. "We congratulate the winners and thank all those who participated in the competition," said IAM Safety & Health Department Director Mike Flynn, whose department administers the popular program. "Our appreciation goes to all the local and district lodges whose generous contributions have supported this valued program since 1960.

Local Lodge 743 President, Mark Hebert, Alexander and William Kosakowski

This year we are proud to announce Alexander O. Kosakowski, son of Local 743 member William Kosakowski as one of the 2011 IAM Scholarship winners. Alexander will be majoring in engineering at the University of Connecticut and hopes to enhance his educational experience through an internship at Hamilton Sundstrand in the future.

Applications are now available for the 2012 Scholarship Competition. You can obtain information on eligibility requirements and download an application by clicking here. Application packets have also been mailed to all local and district lodges. Applications must be completed and postmarked no later than Feb. 24, 2012

The IAM Scholarship competition is open each year to eligible members of the IAM throughout the United States and Canada and their eligible children. The IAM Scholarship Fund, which is used exclusively to make these awards possible, was first established by the delegates to the 1960 IAM Grand Lodge Convention.
